

Growing Spaces In-Kind Grant Application – Urban Farming 2022

Thank you for contacting us regarding our in-kind grant – Urban Farming 2022 program. On top of our standard 5% discount for all registered non-profits, annually we look for ways to give a little more assistance to non-profits whose mission aligns with bringing fresh affordable organic produce to food-desert communities.

The following is a formal application program through which Urban Farming organizations, communities, and educational institutions can apply to receive an in-kind donation from Growing Spaces.

When reviewing applications, we take the following factors into consideration:

- Impact and reach of the proposed project with an urban community
- Support network and other sources of funding available for the project
- History, stability, and legitimacy of the organization/institution
- Location of the project relative to climate compatibility and access to fresh, organic produce
- A strong champion to ensure the project will be carried through to completion and have a lasting impact in the community
